

General Research conclusion

All these different toys are very colourful and interactive to engage the child so they want to play with them. Some of these toys are also educational like counting numbers and letters. Most of these toys require the child to use their hands and put the detachable parts into the right places like matching the number piece onto the number board. The xylophone train is wooden and quite colourful and very interactive by making the children to hit the notes. There is also the drawing board for the children to doodle and draw on. They look different because the xylophone is to be used to make noise and music and the drawing board is to doodle and draw on and because they have different uses. The main materials to use most of these products are plastic and wood. These are made safe because the wood has no sharp edges to cut the children and the wood is fairly light so they won't hurt themselves trying to pick it up, and also the plastic is very smooth and won't break off the product and hurt the child.

Price: £4.95

Materials: Felt and wool

Interesting features: Wool stitching

Size: 19 cm

Interesting Feature: Googly eyes

Size: 40 cm

Material: Felt, Fleece and wool.

Price: £13.99

Size: 40 cm

Materials: Felt and Fleece

Interesting Feature: Googly plastic eyes

Price: £18.00

Size: 20 cm

Materials: Fleece and wool

Interesting Features: Black beads for eyes.

Price: £15.99

Price: £22.00

Size: 40 cm

Interesting Features: Black beads for eyes.

Materials: Fleece and felt.

Price: £19.99

Material: Fleece and wool.

Size: 30 cm

Interesting Features: Felt teeth.